ington I personally introduced Mr. Richardson to many officers and employes in the department and asked them to offer any suggestions they could for improvement. I was well acquainted there through my duties, which had covered a period of ten years past. I introduced Mr. Richardson to forty or fifty men in the department and spent two or three days in introducing him.

Inspect the device, which they did.

There had possession of any stock other than that issued to me, nor did place any stock whatever among the employes of the postofflee department. Neither did I advise Mr. Richardson to so place my stock. I did not know that any stock was to be placed. And had no official consent to give, as I was never a director of either the Montague or the present company. So far as I know it was never planned to place any stock among the officials of the department. I never eved took part in the making of contracts.

Conspiracy Denied.

Salt Lake Herald for Sunday, September 27

It seems almost superfluous to speak or the splendid quality of articles selected for the delectation of The Herald's many readers, yet the service seems to grow better and better, so that it becomes really a pleasure for us to tell of it.

"THE TATTLINGS OF A RETIRED POLITICIAN." By Forest Crissey.

Mr. Crissey is western editor of the Saturday Evening Post, and will tell of the idiosyncracies of politicians. "THE GENIAL IDIOT." By John Kendrick Bangs. The 400 are discussed this week.

He says search is being made for several persons who are principals or accessories to crime. He concludes his statement as follows:

"In regard to the street whisperings and murmurings to the effect that other parts of the state are about to be involved in strikes. I will say if it is necessary to muster into the service under the law every available able-bodied man in the state (and I will be the judge of the able-bodiness), and if it bankrupts for a few days the state of Colorado, there will be no strike disturbances or business cessations while James Peabody is governor and while I am his military representative of the state of Colorado. My eerm of office does not expire until April 1. 1995."

By the accidental discharge of a revolver in the hands of Trooper Macklim today, Corporal Mr. P. Snodgrass was wounded in the right leg and Trooper W. Davis in the left foot. The wounds are not serious.
